Kris Hakes disgustedly faces the agony of defeat as she is pulled into the swirling currents during the tug-a-war.

"Fun" day can even be dangerous as these piggy back demolition entrants find out.

Sack races offer a new kind of transportation for Funday competitors as Brenda Frey assumes the lead.

Getting the greased pigs to go where they are supposed to isn't an easy job.

This Is School?

Exhausted, dirty, and sweaty, the high school students left the field after the second annual Fun-day. They had given of themselves as individuals and as teams to become winners in such events as the gunny sack race, the pie eating contest, the watermelon relay, the greased pig chase, and the tug of war contest.

Even though all the participants were tired and many did not win, the fact that they had done their best made the day one of fun and relaxation to break up the monotony of school.

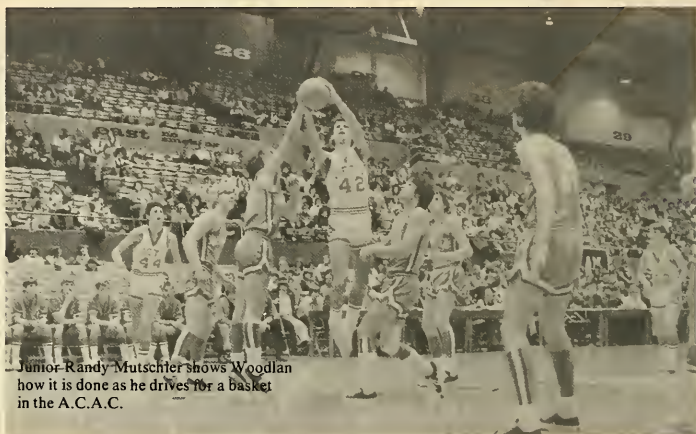

It's a wet walk for Dan Beer as he hurriedly rushes for higher ground.

Diane Bowen loses ground as she drops the greased watermelon although her team still managed second place.

A.C.A.C. CHAMPS

Junior Randy Mutschler shows Woodlan how it is done as he drives for a basket in the A.C.A.C.

The Flying Jets, nicknamed the "cardiac kids," came from behind three times, including a 67-61 overtime win over Leo, to become the 1976 ACAC Tourney Champs.

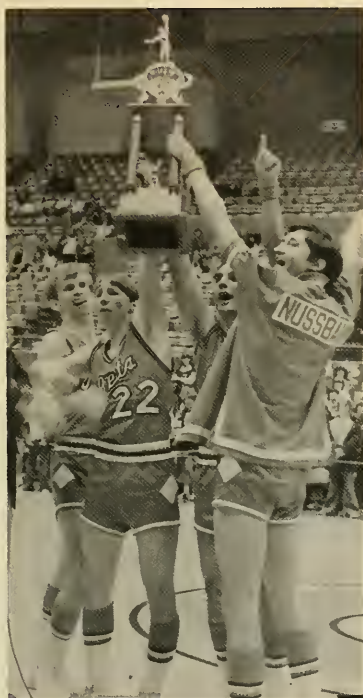

Each game looked like it would be the Jets' last. But with the teams ever persistent attitude, along with the fans chanting "GO" and clapping in unison, the "BIG RED MACHINE" brought home the championship trophy, the first one in the school's history.

Upon the team's arrival back to Monroe, they received a warm welcome by a tunnel of people through the main hall and a pep session.

Another celebration was held Wednesday morning since school was cancelled two days for snow. During the all school pep session, ice cream bars were enjoyed by everybody. The students were then dismissed to do whatever they wanted, including attend a sock hop, watch TV, play cards, or just loaf until 11:00.

Cardiac Coach Bantz proclaims, "The sign tells it like it is!"

FLYING JETS

Leo Lions look on in amazement as Alan Loshe adds two more for the Big Red Machine.

Accepting the tourney trophy, the senior players show their emotions.

The basketball players and cheerleaders get a little kick from winning.

D SENIOR A R Y

Started at 5:45 a.m. Noisy crowds huddled in the school. By 5:50, everybody had boarded the buses that were to take us to Baer Field. There was a roll call and as we started north, a blanket of snow covered the ground.

6:55 — We arrived at Baer Field. Bathrooms received heavy use.

8:15 — Still waiting for the plane that is already late. The natives are getting restless.

8:40 — Finally boarded plane. (we were supposed to leave at 7:00)

8:59 — Started searching for barf bags. They were going to be in heavy use this trip.

9:04 — In the air. Good take-off. Mr. Glass complained that he wouldn't be able to see his hometown Poneto from the air.

9:20 — Breakfast of roll, orange juice, milk, or coffee.

10:30 — Thirty minutes of holding pattern over Washington. Hope we land soon.

10:36 — Landed! Thank goodness. Everybody was sick.

10:55 — We boarded our bus, a light green and silver job. First stop at the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. It was a canned tour with a tape recorder giving us all the information.

11:40 — National Archives. They were remodeling so the tour wasn't the greatest. We saw the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. The kids started singing, "Keep on Truckin!"

The guards laughed.

12:10 — Went to Captiol. We were pushed through like a herd of cattle. Didn't leave to good of an impression.

1:30 — On the bus again.

1:40 — Stopped along the west side of White House to get pictures taken. Getting off of the bus gave us a chance to stretch our legs.

1:45 — Finally lunch! Food! We ate at Scholl's colonial Cafeteria. Eighty kids jammed in on them at once. The people who waited on us seemed to be all foreigners. At least they couldn't speak English. Comments on the lunch ranged from fantastic to rotten. Here we saw people of all kinds, sizes, shapes, and nationalities.

3:10-3:30 — A guy totally incompetent offered to take our picture by the Ulysses S. Grant Statue.

3:45 — Arlington Cemetary. We saw the 4 p.m. change of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Everyone was impressed. Most of the class awed by the experience. We then went to the tomb of John F. Kennedy. 4:40 — Back in the crummy bus. At 5:00 we stopped for a 1/2 hour visit at the Smithsonian Institute. We rode the escalator and elevator for awhile. Saw the flag that inspired "The Star Spangled Banner." Back on bus at 5:30.

5:45 — Souvenir shop. Struggled with decision between getting a T-shirt labeled "Property of Washington, D.C." or a T-shirt with the crest of Poland. Cans of pop and candy bars were devoured by the crowd. A wino tried to get on the bus as we started boarding it.

6:20 — Toured the halls of the JFK Performing Arts Center. The chandeliers looked beautiful.

7:00 — Viewed the Iwo Jima Memorial. The wind had become very strong and the temperature had dropped — it was cold!

7:15 — Winds increased as we arrived at the Lincoln Memorial.

It's massive size impressed us. The statue seemed life-like. Roar of the planes passing over reminded us that we would soon be leaving for home.

7:23 — Beginning of the end of our trip. We boarded the bus to the Jefferson Memorial. We saw the Washington Memorial in the background. Everything was beautiful as the lights were on everywhere.

7:30 — At the Jefferson Memorial, the wind whistled through the building and we all made a hasty exit as the members of the Swing Choir who were on the trip sang, "The Declaration."

7:38 — Headed for the airport. Emergency rest room stop in east Potomac Park. The temperature on a bank read 34 degrees.

8:15 — Arrived at the airport. Snack machines did a booming business, as did the restrooms. Lines were formed everywhere.

8:30 — The plane arrived and at 9 we boarded it.

9:15 — Attempted to take off. The wind was blowing all over the place. We had to fly into a headwind all the way back to Baer Field.

9:30 — Not to bad now. The stewardesses started to serve supper.

The submarine sandwich, pop, apple or orange, and banana cake was good. The Saddle Sore Brothers (minus one) tried to keep things going with a concert in the back of the plane.

10:40 — Seat belt signs flashed on. Some kids could see the school, Decatur, and Bluffton.

11:00 — We landed. On the bus to school, everyone was tired. At school, kids got their own transportation home. — Neil Martin

When It Rains . . .

The wind, rain, and cold weather, which persisted thru the night of October 17, discouraged many people from coming to the annual Homecoming festivities.

However, the stormy weather failed to dampen the tension filled coronation of the 1976 queen. Tina Ratcliff, escorted by Kevin Ehrman, proved to be the student's choice.

The parade, with its float competition, was cancelled and postponed until the Norwell game.

The night was highlighted when the Jets wiped out Churubusco 44-0 for the biggest win of the year.

"Jets are gonna lick'em" was the theme for the winning Junior float.

Kris Coyne, Connie Wolfe, Susie Johnson, Janet Marbach, Barb Manley, Queen Tina Ratcliff, Cindy Longenberger, Vickie Mitchel, Jenni Mies, and Coni Everett try not to let the weather dampen their spirits.

... It Pours!

"Kiss her in front of all these people?"
is Kevin Ehrman's reaction.

Queen Tina, poised under her umbrella, awaits the start of the game.

Mr. Ratcliff congratulates his daughter the new Queen.

The Secret Is Out!

Old officers crown the new officers at the initiation.

Sunshine Society not only means "helping others," but it also means "appreciating others." At the beginning of the school year each sunshine girl showed her appreciation for some lady by secretly choosing her for their "Ideal Lady." Then in April they revealed themselves by giving their special lady a gift at the annual Mothers' Tea. Beautiful red geraniums lined the lecture area stage as the mistress of ceremonies, Kris Coyne, announced the Senior Sunshine Girl of the Year, Connie Wolfe. Afterwards, a tea for the girls, their mothers, and their Ideal Ladies was held in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Rowena Stucky presents Debbie Sprunger with the Rowena Stucky Scholarship.

In a moment of emotion, Kris Coyne gives Connie Wolfe the Sunshine Girl of the Year award.

Cindy Speakman gives her position as Recording Secretary of the Sunshine Society to Susan Johnson.

Nancy and Natalie Hurst welcome and register the Ideal Ladies and mothers at the Tea.

Parting Blessing

May the road rise to meet you;
May the wind be always
at your back;
May the sun shine
warm upon your face.
May the rain fall
soft upon your fields.
And, until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of his hand.

For the first time in the history of the Adams Central Community Schools, co-valedictorians were named to the 1976 graduating class. Scott Abbott and Brad Nussbaum shared these honors with Rosie Miller being named as salutatorian.

Robes of navy and red slowly marched down the gymnasium floor on Sunday, May 23 at 2:30 p.m. during the commencement ceremonies as the seniors made their last appearance as part of the 1976 graduating class.

1925 — Monroe's second and final newspaper, the MONROE BROADCASTER, was started and printed on a few editions.
 1915 — Town first received electricity. Before that time a natural gas line from the gas fields at Geneva provided gas for lighting.
 1914 — First class from Monroe High School graduated with seven Seniors.

The 1976 version of the Jet Follies took us out west to the little town of Glitter Gulch. The short one act play starred such A.C. great's as Moustache Agnes Grove, Rock Quarry Fritz, Smedley Pewtree Collins, Obnoxious Little Irving Mast, and many others. Also appearing on stage was none other than the Saddle Sore Brothers; Luke (Mike Amstutz), Spook (Brad Nussbaum), Puke (Neil Martin), and their horse, Duke (Scott Abbott and Deb Sprunger), who entertained the audience with song, dance, and laughter.

As the result of many combined efforts under the direction of Mrs. June Grove, the Jet Follies was a big success.

Mr. Rush adds a little humor by passing out toilet paper tickets to the "crap game".

"Is that what you guys call music?" jeers Moustache Agnes.

The Nuggets of Glitter Gulch

EXPRESS IT!!!

We see faces everyday in the halls and in the classroom, never knowing what they're thinking, never bothering to ask. In our minds we visualize the images of their faces. We all realize we're here for one specific purpose — knowledge. Yet we each also seek friendship, trust, and equality. We search for a sincere friendship with our teachers, administrators, and even the ladies working in the cafeteria. We need them, we accept them as they do us. And as we depart those sacred halls of Central, we will each take with us a memory of those who surrounded us each day. We will cherish those friendships made, because with out them, we were merely faces in a crowd.

Do Your Thing

“We May Never Pass This Way Again.”

Kathy Strahm and Doug Yoder enjoy a game of cards in the game room.

Waiting for their meal, Alan Loshe, Jeni Isch, and Steve Hill discuss the night's events.

King John Smith and Queen Susie Johnson enjoy the traditional dance.

Juniors and Seniors relax and listen to the entertainment, Carolyn Peyton.

Dave Schwartz, Steve Miller, and their dates pause for a rest from the dance.

Joe Mast and Connie Chapman compare souvenirs.

The theme, "We may never pass this way again," the country setting of BEARCREEK FARMS, and the anticipation of the evening to come sank deep into the hearts of the Seniors as they entered their last Jr.-Sr. Prom.

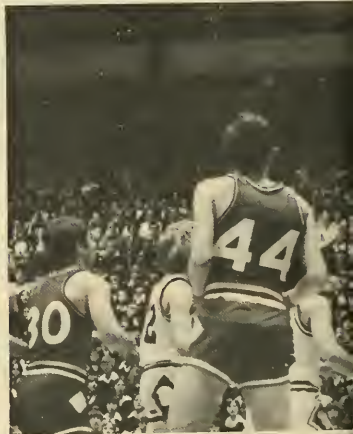

Following the dinner, couples could choose from various activities such as playing pool or bumper pool, relaxing by the fire, or listening to Caroline Peyton entertain.

A dance, "Young Frankenstein", bowling, and a quick breakfast at the school finished off a night the Juniors and Seniors, and their dates, will never forget.

Will You Sign Me?

Jim Bowen assumes his role as a "Jet Star" by signing autographs.

A capacity crowd watches Brian Ehrsam drive baseline as Jim Bowen, Brad Nussbaum and the Norwell defenders await a possible rebound.

Linda Loshe and Kathy Coyne try their hand at painting, while Annamae Riley and Patsy Heimann admire their work.

Jim Gremaux assists Mike Jesionowski as they put the finishing touches on the Senior hall.

"Mark '76" now appears on the shirts of Middle School girls.

Pam Burkhart and Jody Nussbaum eagerly work on their Freshman hall.

Seniors Sandy Gerber and Julie Cook, portray a warm loving couple of the 50's.

Coach Bantz keeps the sectional spirit going by signing more shirts.

Dave Hirschy sinks two more over the outstretched arms of a Norwell defender.

As sectional week rolled around, students showed their school spirit by participating in fifties day, shirt day, and hall decorations. The Freshmen won the hall competition with the theme "Farmer Power" and the players had the privilege of signing many shirts. The players also received gifts of gum, apples, socks, and cake from the classes.

Even though the Jets lost to Norwell, the school spirit was evident throughout the week.

Spasmodius, played by Joe Mast, hypnotizes the audience with his charisma.

Shot Theatre

Is this the city?

"You got to be kidding!" exclaims Connie Wolfe.

The Graveyard Four fascinates the audience with their creative choreography.

The Drama Club, composed of any high school student who tried out for the play, presented two one-act plays this year. "Sherlock Meets the Phantom" and "Thursday Meets the Wolfman" were the two mysterious comedies the cast, under Mrs. Groves' direction, gave for the public's enjoyment.

Spasmodius, played by Joe Mast, provided a humorous introduction to each play and a finale.

Spasmodius along with the Graveyard Four, otherwise known as "Twilight," entertained at intermission with the song, "Monster Mash."

Scott Abbott served as President of the club, while Neil Martin and Connie Wolfe were Vice President and Sec/Treas., respectively.

Jets Shut-out Busco

South Adams defenders finally drag down running back Brian Ehrsam.

The 33-6 victory over arch-rival South Adams highlighted this year's varsity season. After a rather disappointing beginning which saw the Jets lose their first four games, they only lost to top ranked Woodlan, 14-13.

The Jets continued to improve as they shut out Churubusco 44-0 on Homecoming night. With the closing victory over Norwell, the varsity team ended with a record of 3-7.

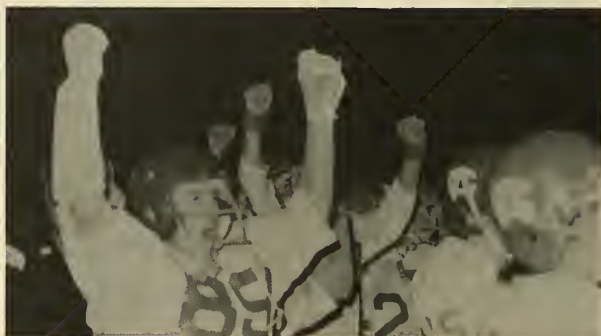

Team members recognized Mike Barger as most valuable lineman and Bill Haugk as most valuable player at the 1975 Fall Sports Banquet. Haugk also was named as a line backer to the 1975 ACAC all-star team.

Mark Mitchel Leads the Jets through a tunnel of cheering fans.

Numbers Restrict Reserves

The sidelines cry touchdown.

It takes more than one Leo Lion to bring down a Flying Jet.

Due to limited members, Reserves played only three games with an initial win over Churubusco, 8-0, their only victory of the season. Leo and Norwell both defeated the Junior Varsity squad.

Frosh Defeat Raiders . . . Stars

Two 0-0 ties kept the Freshmen football squad from a .500 season. Wins over South Adams and Southern Wells proved the Freshmen are capable of stepping into positions next year vacated by graduating Seniors.

The team honored Hal Lehman at the Fall Sports Banquet as Most Valuable Player.

With the sun's glare urging him on, Brian Dick stretches to the finish.

Despite the loss of six starting varsity members from last year's team, the 1975 volleyball team came on strong thanks to hard work and much determination. The team was a young one but improved through the season as each member set a personal goal of precise serving. With these combined efforts, the team ended its '75 season with a 91% serving score which is the best ever for an A.C. team.

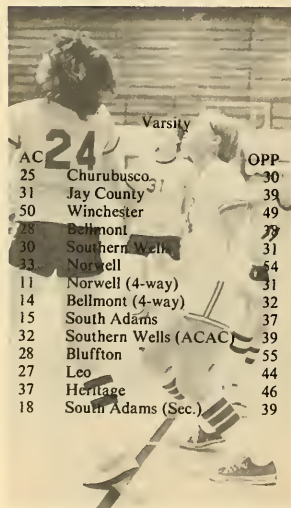

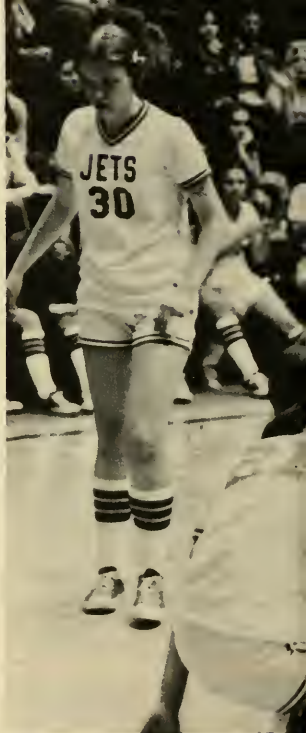

Senior Tina Ratcliff was awarded both the Serving Percentage trophy and the Most Valuable Player award at the Fall Athletic Banquet.

The 1976 Girls Track team, which was young in experience but large in number, posted a season record of 10-4-1. The high point of the season occurred when the girls scored 97 points against Huntington Catholic's 15 points.

This year three school records were broken; shot put — 31'1 1/4" by Cheryl Rumble, 880 relay — 1:53.25 by Diane Bowen, Sue Soldner, Jane Bluhm, and Robin Stout, and the 440 yard dash — 66.3 by Becky McAhren.

Junior Sue Soldner, who is a three year letter winner, received the Most Valuable Runner award with a total of 143 points.

"This year's team, though young and inexperienced, compiled a very good record and shows much promise of being even stronger next year."

— Coach Teri Carr

Agnes Heimann heaves the shot put as Cheryl Rumble watches on.

Jets Tie for Conference Crown

Under the leadership of "Area Coach of the Year," Terry Bantz, the Flying Jets had their most successful season in the past 10 years with a 14-8 win-loss record. The Big Red Machine became the first A.C. team to win the A.C.A.C. Tournament and tie for the conference championship.

Jim Bowen, Brian Ehrsam, and Randy Mutschler were chosen to the A.C.A.C. All Conference team while Al Loshe received honorable mention.

For the season Brian Ehrsam and Randy Mutschler were named co-winners of the coveted Most Valuable Player trophy.

Under the leadership of new, Reserve coach, Jim Reinking, the B-team started strong by winning four of their first six games but were hampered by late season injuries and finished with a 6-14 record.

The team had their best showings against Southern Wells, with a double overtime win at South Adams, and against Belmont, which unfortunately ended in a Jet defeat.

Randy Hirschy was named the Most Improved Player, Tony Landis — the Best Defensive Player, and Tom Lambert — the Most Valuable Player.

May 23, 1976, a day that all the Seniors of the class of 1976 have looked forward to and will always cherish in their minds, knowing that they've reached their high school goal, graduation.

As the Seniors look back through the years, many fond memories of grade school, middle school, and high school will come to mind. But soon they'll realize how precious and few those moments really were. Being in sports, clubs, band, attending banquets, decorating halls, winning the "76 ACAC Tourney" title, flying to Washington D.C., and just sitting around talking helped make the school days unforgettable for the graduating class of 1976.

Class Colors — Navy and red
Class Motto — If we rest, we rust.

SENIORS

Rifle Corps members spend before-school hours practicing for upcoming performances.

Juniors tend to agree the commons is a good place to escape and unwind.

For the second consecutive year, the class of 1977 won the homecoming float contest with the theme "Jets are gonna lick'em."

The Juniors beat the class of 1976 magazine sales by almost $2,000, earning more than $7,000. With this money and the income from concessions at the basketball games, the class hosted the Jr.-Sr. Prom at Bearcreek Farms.

Prom preparations, cleaning the bleachers after games, and sectional hall decorations were events that kept the Juniors busy.

Officers elected were Brad Wilks, pres.; Kathy Coyne, vice pres.; Nedra Sprunger, sec.; Melanie Bowan, treas.

Mr. Potter helps Kerry Werst, Mark Rich, and Brian Dick solve engineering problems on the Sectional hall decorations.

SOPHOMORES

Leon Tonner and Rex Hamilton work for a goal while Scott Mitchell tries to prevent a score.

Doug Lehman tries to decide what books to take to class besides Chemistry.

The year 1976 meant making many decisions for the sophomores. More opportunities in choosing classes was one of the first decisions the class of "78" made. One new required course that proved to be beneficial and interesting was co-ed health.

Sophomore year also meant buying class rings, which presented problems to those who couldn't decide which color or style they wanted.

Gary Hoffman, Dave Soldner, Doug Lehman, and Michele Barger were elected president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

Being part of high school always seemed like an event that would never happen. But for the class of "79" it finally became a reality.

For the first few weeks, learning and remembering your locker combination was always challenging; especially when Mr. Goldsberry stressed only three minutes between mods and classes.

Winning sectional hall with the theme "Farmer Power" was one of the highlights of the year. Freshman also took part in becoming members of Pep Club, GAA, FFA, and athletics.

Freshman elected Carolyn Lichte as their president, Brad Butler — vice pres., Sandy Kaehr — Sec., and Lee Ann Mitchel — Treas.

Freshman boys find square dancing
"enjoyable."

A time to ... DISCOVER

The cold weather doesn't stop the cheerleaders from doing their job.

The cheerleaders and fans form a spirit tunnel before a capacity crowd at the Bellmont game.

Cheer Squad Leads "Big Red"

Painting signs . . . throwing parties . . . car wipes . . . camp . . . screaming . . . practice . . . skits. What do all these things have in common? They were just a few of the many things the cheerleaders were involved in. Along with the male cheerleaders, the Varsity cheer squad did more complicated cheers, some involving the mini-tramp. Their enthusiasm helped generate that of the fans to create an optimistic atmosphere.

The Reserve and Freshman cheerleaders lead their teams and also assisted the Varsity squad at pep sessions and during the Varsity games.

Band and Pep Club Co-operate . . .

Chants of "GO-GO-GO" filled the gym as the pep block, and many other fans, tried to show the Jets they're behind them 100%.

Dressed in new gingham "farmer" shirts, the pep block did its best to support and cheer on all the athletic teams.

Officers elected for the year were: Tina Ratcliff — Pres.; Natalie Hurst — Vice Pres.; Susie Johnson — Sec.; Janis Arnold — Tres.; and Miss Cindy Ziegler — Sponsor.

A.C.'s own dynamic duo, twin drum majors Kathy Strahm and Dee Dee Lehman lead the band onto the field.

Tammy Williamson provides a bridge for Kathy Strahm's salute in a sparkling finale.

New band hats, new drum shirts and berets, new uniforms for the pom-pom girls and twirlers, and a rifle corps added a new look to the Jets Band. This year's band, with its innovations, had more success than any other AC band for several years.

Earning a division I rating and taking first place in inspection at the CYO contest at Indianapolis was the highlight of the marching season. As a result of sheer guts, hard work, determination, and dedication, this year's Marching Jets became widely known as one of the most colorful show bands in this area.

With the emphasis being placed on the Country's 200th Anniversary this year, the Adams Central Concert Band performed a bicentennial concert for all community patrons.

The Jets Band also played at the Decatur Bicentennial Dinner, where they received a standing ovation after playing the "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The band showed a wide range of ability going from Classical pieces like "Symphony in G minor" to pop tunes like "Jaws."

Showing spirit and enthusiasm, the Pep Band played at all the home basketball games and pep sessions.

The Stage Band practiced several mornings a week to prepare for the Variety and Pops Concerts.

Character, Service, Leadership, Scholarship

For the second consecutive year the National Honor Society sponsored a book fair with books for every age. Because of cramped conditions in the library magazine room, the book fair had to be relocated to the remedial reading center. The money earned through the book fair was used to purchase NHS pins for the new members.

On May 3, twenty students officially became members of the National Honor Society, joining the seventeen old members.

Officers elected were: Pres. — Amy Wulliman, Vice pres. — Tim Gerber, Sec. — Brad Nussbaum, and Treas. — Trudi Young.

The Student Council again had a very successful and active year. Planning Funday, the slumber party, and all the Homecoming festivities kept everyone busy. With the help of Mr. Goldsberry and Mr. Schnepf, as advisors, the Student Council made new rules and set goals for the year.

The purpose of the Student Council is to give the student body a voice in the decisions and rules that are made.

Officers elected were: President — Brad Nussbaum, Vice President — Mark Mitchel, Secretary — Janet Marbach, Treasurer — Natalie Hurst.

FFA in Action

Weldon Nussbaum presents the FFA award to Denver Nussbaum.

The Adams Central FFA Chapter continued to be very strong this year. The Poultry Team of Denver Nussbaum, Merlin Nussbaum, Calvin Mihm, Bill Burkhart, Randy Johnson, and Dean Arnold traveled to Richmond, Virginia in October to the National Judging competition. They placed second in the Mid-Eastern Nationals and the Dairy Judging team took fourth place in the Nationals.

There were ninety students involved in FFA who participated in the various activities offered by the Ag. Dept.

The 24th annual Thanksgiving Program had an excellent turnout this year with about 25 baskets of food collected and distributed.

Miss Imler seems to be caught in her own trap.

A new face among the teachers at A.C., Miss Janet Imler took over the German class and club this year.

On Friday, November 14, the German Club held their biggest fund-raising event of the year, the Oktoberfest. Many long hours and much hard work by club members and Miss Imler went into the festival's preparation. Students learned many folk dances and performed them for the audience. An Umpah band, organized by Greg Rawley and assisted by Mr. Collins, provided German music for the dancers and audience.

German Club officers elected were: President — Cindy Speakman, Vice President — Mike Kahlert, Secretary-Treasurer — Kris Hakes.

Miss Ziegler conducted her third and fourth year classes mostly in Spanish. The students studied the Spanish language much closer along with learning about Spanish civilization, culture, and customs.

Spanish club officers elected were: President — Nedra Sprunger, Vice-President — Kathy Strahm, Secretary — Vicki Lichte, and Treasurer — Brenda Frey.

West and Sports students make their predictions for the A.C.A.C. Tourney.

Dawn Gerig studies her vocabulary words for West and Sports in the library.

Adams Central High School students have much to choose from to satisfy their English requirements. Once freshmen English is completed, students can choose from 14 different courses. Among these are courses such as American Novel and West and Sports, where students read and write essays. The Speech classes emphasize speech writing and public speaking. Sophomores are required to take Creative Writing, which furthers their grammar knowledge and writing abilities. Seniors can prepare themselves for college English by taking Advanced Composition.

Totally intrigued, Short Story students prepare their topics for discussion.

After freshmen English, Laurinda Andrews journeys to her next class.

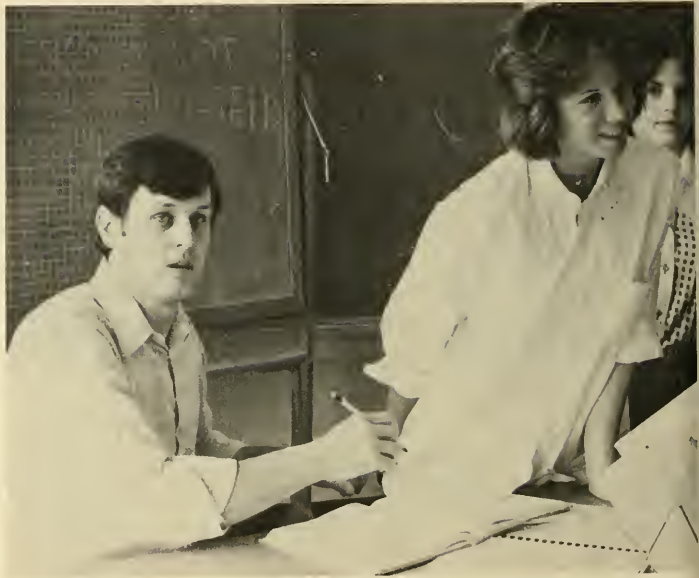

After learning to apply the four basic functions of math to the counting numbers, high school math students learned to compute them in more advanced problems.

Under the guidance of Mr. Ransbottom, the freshmen had the choice between General Math and Algebra I to fulfill their math requirements.

Mr. Rinkenberger, otherwise known as the "Spaz", tried to buffalo the Geometry, Algebra II, and Senior Math students with constructions, proofs; logarithms, determinants; calculus, trigonometry, and analysis problems.

Dee Wood finally gets her sectional shirt signed during Geometry class.

An important math concept capture the thoughts of John Smith, Rod Rehm, and Brad Nussbaum.

Darrell Gerber confers with Mr. Rinkenberger on a problem in Senior Math class.

Mark Rich and Scott Gerber work on assignments as Mr. Rinkenberger helps Agnes Heimann.

Geometry students find free time from the everyday work of lines and angles.

"You've got to be kidding!" exclaims Jane Bluhm to Mr. Fritz during Typing II.

Exhaustion overcomes Brian Ehram after finishing his last Practice Set.

Typing I students prepare for a one minute timed-writing.

Taking Care of Business

JoAnn Kahlert aligns her typing paper while other Typing I students busily peck away.

Jodi Hakes consults with Mr. Fritz on some last minute material.

Any student who has ever taken a business course probably has had to do packets, in which deadlines have to be met to get full credit. Each area of business, including Typing I and II, Book-keeping I and II, Shorthand I and II, Business Machines, General Business, Secretarial Training, Consumer Marketing, and Business Law have assignments such as these.

Also included in the business area is I.C.E., which stands for Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education, coordinated by Mr. Fritz, and is offered to seniors who attend school for half the day and work the other half. The I.C.E. class meets in school to discuss what is being learned on their jobs.

Check it Out

Penny Baumgartner and Sally Adkison pass the time by indexing cards.

Mr. Tatman renders assistance to freshman girls while Keely Shoaf finishes some homework.

A newcomer at A.C., Mr. Ken Tatman filled the job of head librarian. Along with Mrs. Nussbaum, they checked in and out many books daily and also tried to keep the library in quiet order.

In both the elementary and high school library's, the librarians helped students with reports, projects, and research papers by using books, old magazines, and microfilms for reference.

The time-consuming job of taking book inventory and then recording them lasted throughout the final month of school.

Licking his lips, Neil Martin, Jagubar Winner, conspires a new thought for a feature story.

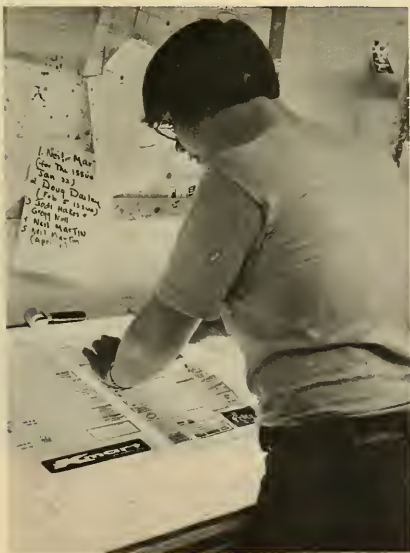

The Jet Stream Staff produced bimonthly issues which kept the community informed on school happenings while at the same time kept the student body in good spirits with humorous stories.

With advisor, Mrs. Grove, and editor, Scott Abbott, controlling the action of the Pit, the crew produced 10-four page editions, eight page editions for Valentines Day, Christmas, Thanksgiving, April Fools, and ACAC Tourney, a sixteen page edition for Sectional, and a twenty page Senior edition.

This year the JAGUBAR award, or Journalistically Active Guy (or Gal) Underpast Brilliant Ace Reporter, was started to honor the reporter who did the most for each issue and the year.

Editor Scott Abbott puts the pieces together for the next issue of the Jet Stream.

Planning their weddings, managing money, holding panel discussions, and planning their marriage by pairing up and discussing their many expenses are just part of the many activities of the seniors in Home Ec. IV.

Juniors learned how to cook a variety of foods, held many special meals including the annual wassail and Thanksgiving Dinner, and planned their dream house in Home Ec. III.

Studying children and human development was one of the main topics discussed in Home Ec. II by the sophomores, which included watching children first hand.

Consumer education and dating took up most of the freshmen's Home Ec. classes.

Sampling goodies is one of the advantages of Home Ec.

200 Years Ago Today . . .

Ending a small group class, Mr. Glass and his students talk about current events.

Randy McCullough helps entertain the History class by presenting his bookreport.

Large group Soc. Students and Mr. Taylor await the end of class.

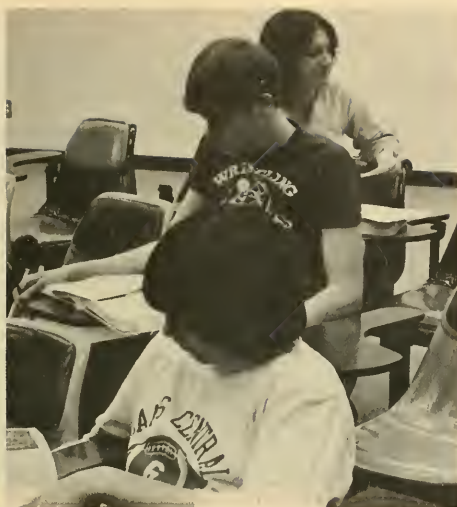

From the attack on Pearl Harbor to the birthday of Mickey Mouse, the bicentennial notes were read every morning to the students following the announcements.

In Mr. Glass' History class, the juniors gave two 7 1/2 minute book reports on subjects of their choice.

Government, Sociology, and Economic classes were taught this year by Mr. Taylor. A government trip to Washington D.C. helped the seniors understand our nation's history and political operations.

Discussion day, which included talks ranging from individuals morals to the theories of Freud, seemed to be a favorite among the Psychology students.

Brad Childs and John Lichtle cram for a History test.

Mr. Glass "doodles" the last few minutes of class away.

Seniors find time to goof-off in Sociology class.

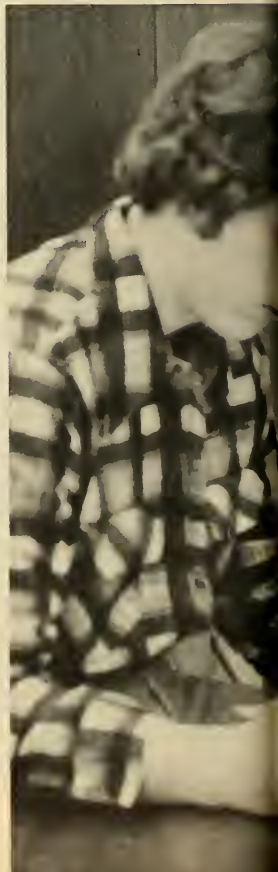

Tapes, Units, and Labs Aid Students

Brad Wilks observes Von Ringger and Brian Ehram's experiment.

Mike Stuckey proclaims, "I didn't know a worm had so many parts!"

Striving to learn how to balance equations, Penny Zurcher takes notes while listening to a tape.

Mini-courses and lab units created work for the students involved in General Science, Biology, Advanced Biology, Chemistry, Biochemistry, and Physics.

By listening to tapes and lectures, watching film loops, performing dissections and experiments, each student received the information necessary to prepare for the test in that unit.

General Science students, who were taught by Mr. Allspaw, learned the basic laws of Science while Chemistry students tackled stoichiometry problems.

Biochem students gained experience by preparing and performing labs in front of the class.

Preparing for her Chemistry test, Renee White studies diligently.

Giving it one more try, Brian Ehrsam finally comes up with the desired formula.

In Physics, Neil Martin studies for a unit test.

Swing Choir members await the signal to begin "Country Road."

Mr. Potter directs the choir at the Christmas Vespers service.

The High School Choir performed at the Christmas Vespers, Winter Concert, Variety Concert, Choir Festival, Pops Concert, and also at Graduation.

The Swing Choir kept their schedules filled by performing for various clubs and social functions. They also received a Superior rating in second division at contest this year.

Girls Sextet worked hard and won first place at both District and State contest.

A new and successful group in the Choral department this year was the Men's Quartet. Brad Nussbaum, Mike Amstutz, Neil Martin, and Mr. Potter made up the group which performed at many school functions as well as area social events.

Choir members harmonize on the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Backbone to every performance is accompanist Jodi Hakes.

Saddle Sore Brothers (alias Men's Quartet): Mr. Potter, Brad Nussbaum, Neil Martin, and Mike Amstutz.

Jacks of All Trades

Mike Mitchel, Mike Kahlert, and Mike Mies concentrate on making each line perfect.

Deb Studabaker finds the eraser a necessity when a mistake is made on her drawing.

Randy Johnson finishes his semester project on the lathe.

The Industrial Arts class proved to be the most popular subject for young metal workers. They learned the basics of metal working and to carefully and accurately operate the machines.

As a mass production project, Mr. Steiner's class produced candleholders and bought tools with the profit.

Drawing, printing, and constructing homes was also a project Mr. Hakes made a challenge.

AV Center Keeps School Functioning

Gary Edwards starts a Video tape as Al Simon relaxes.

"Okay, who wants to deliver a movie screen to 4th. grade?" asked Dean Black.

Tim Colchin looks over the day's log to see what needs done.

The Audio Visual Center, and the crew that keeps it functioning, is a definite necessity for the school. A-V center coordinator, Gene Chronister, directs the 18 members staff, who carries out the usual jobs encountered everyday.

The staff not only operates the center but are also introduced to electronics, also. They learn the basic fundamentals and also how to repair minor troubles that arise with the equipment.

Mike Steury contemplates his answer on his goal to a questionnaire.

Let the "Son," Shine in.

Jim Hatten, Kevin Rich, and Hal Lehman enjoy the post meeting munchies at Mr. Humble's home.

Meeting twice a month, the girl's FCA huddle re-evaluated themselves by comparing themselves to Bible characters. The huddle shared their fellowship by Christmas caroling through Monroe and giving a party monthly at the State Hospital in Fort Wayne. Huddle leaders for the year were: Captain — Kris Coyne, Co-Captain — Nancy Hurst, and Sec/Treas. — Kathy Coyne.

The boys huddle, lead by Captain Brad Nussbaum, Co-Captain — Doug Yoder, and Sec/Treas. — Mark Rich, met with FCA groups from Jay Co., South Adams, and Belmont to get new ideas and share personal experiences.

Hal Lehman and Mark Rich listen to another member of their discussion group.

If you have ever been walking past the gym while a P.E. class was taking place, strange sounds echo from the oversized room. "Alamand left to your corner, grand right and left."

Square dancing remained popular this year with Mrs. Carr making her debut as a dance caller. Mr. Humble also instructed the underclassmen whenever the squares accidentally turned into circles.

Badminton, gymnastics, basketball, hockey, and track kept the Freshmen and Sophomores busy and physically fit.

Exercises help P.E. students get ready for the day's activities.

Senior cadet teachers Janis Arnold and Cindy Longenberger show underclassmen how push-ups are done.

Happiness Is . . . Sunshine!

"With love in my heart, forgetting self, and with charity for all, I will make the object of my life, helpfulness and kindness to others . . ." was part of the creed 150 Sunshine Girls believed in. Sunshine girls main objective, helping others and bringing joy and fun into their lives, helped them live up to their motto of "others."

In 1975 a $200.00 scholarship in honor of Rowena Stucky was established in appreciation of her hard work and service to Sunshine. The winner of the scholarship must belong to Sunshine and is judged on character, need, scholarship, and service. The 1976 recipient was Debbie Sprunger.

Recipe for a Good Yearbook

INGREDIENTS:

Three qualified editors who have spent one full week at Ball State Journalism Work Shop (those being Deb Sprunger, Editor; Julie Tonnellier, Copy Editor; and Natalie Hurst, Design Editor).

Five snappy photographers who catch you at the most hideous positions.

One Assistant Editor (alias Penny Zurcher) who tags along and gets in the way a lot.

Eleven other miscellaneous staff members who listen very well?

Beat the above ingredients well. Add a gross of 3-R Forms and dummy sheets, several quantities of pencils and erasers and mix thoroughly. Sift in patience, co-operation, organization, and perfection. Bake in oven before the deadline but make sure the Advisor (Mr. Markley) approves (if he isn't sure either Mr. Arthur or the Company will know). Cool and you have one of the best Yearbooks in Indiana.

Shortly after second semester started, A.C.'s faculty and grades 5-12 were introduced to Marilyn Vanderburr's motivational films. After each teacher viewed the film, it was then viewed the next day by the student body. After the film, the student body broke up and into small discussion groups, which were headed by the teachers and administrators. In the discussion groups, the teachers talked with the students asking them such questions as: What are their goals in life? What is success? When should one give up? What can be done to achieve a goal?

The purpose of the motivational films was to help students and faculty members better understand each other and encourage students to improve their position in life.

Teachers Ted Hakes, Cindy Zeigler, Charles Clampitt, and Jerome Markley relax and converse after a hard day's work.

Mr. Rush helps Miss Zeigler solve one of the many cheerleading problems.

The School Board, along with Superintendent Dr. Eugene Alberson, who began his first year in the Adams Central School Corporation, approved plans for expansion to the school.

Included in the plans will be additions to the Art, Home-Ec., and Middle School Science departments, a Middle School Library and Media Center, and a new Physical Education complex which will seat over 900 people. Also being considered is a swimming pool and the remodeling of the existing gymnasium.

Two other administrative changes occurred in addition to Dr. Alberson. Mr. Don Rush became the new Athletic Director and Administrative Assistant in the High School, replacing Mr. Edwin Bryan, who took over as Middle School Principal.

Helping Hand Ladies

Helping students in the library is an everyday happening for Mrs. Nussbaum.

Following a busy day of school, Miss Bentz and Mrs. Fruechte chat about the day's activities.

The secretaries and teacher's aides at A.C. are certainly important corporation employees. Besides the usual jobs of typing and answering telephones, the secretaries also do such jobs as bookkeeping, filing, taking care of extracurricular money, re-recording student's subjects and gards in permanent record cards, and running errands for their bosses.

The teacher's aides help the teachers in many ways. They type, laminate materials, and duplicate tests.

Mrs. Marilyn Gerig has a rather unusual job at school. She does all the laudering for all the athletic teams, both uniforms and towels.

School Nurses: Karen Kaehr and Mary Ann Clouse.

Everyday we shuffled through the lunch line picking up our daily rations and gulping it down quickly. But most didn't realize the time involved in preparing over 1,000 servings a day. Meal planner, Joan Zurcher, receives some food from the government and must plan around that. Preparations started for the workers at 6:45 and are usually finished around 2:00.

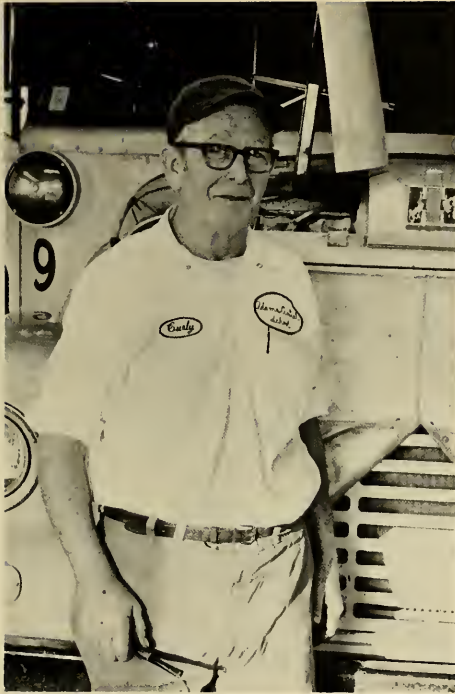

This year the nurses added to their duties the organization of a health club. Testing student's hearing, vision and giving T.B. shots plus administering First Aid to all 1400 students occupied the rest of their day.

Mrs. Burkhead breaks away from the office and lends a helping hand to the cooks.

Custodial-Maintenance Personnel: Roger Braun, Clarence Dick, Brice (Bud) Fisher, Harold Schwartz, Shelly Byer, Clara Thomas, Raymond Thomas, Gene Arnold. Not Pictured: Micheal Ompach, Kim Fisher.

Unjamming lockers, fixing chairs, and mowing the school lawn were just a few of the smaller jobs the custodial staff did. One of the large jobs completed was the cleaning and clearing of the tunnels for use as a tornado shelter by students.

Helping cut down transportation costs was a main objective among the 20 member bus driving crew. Besides their daily routine of transporting students to and from school, the bus drivers also drove students to athletic events, field trips, and class trips.

A time to ... GROW

Diane Hindenlang, Francela Sygart, and Kim Snyder work hard for perfect tone at their first performance.

Listen to the Music

A.C. Jr. Band prepares to put on their annual mass band halftime show.

The only girl trombone player, Michele Noll concentrates on her music during the Middle School Winter Concert.

Each Middle School student learned the different aspects of music by participating in choir, band, or general music.

The Middle School band marched in the annual parades at Monroe, Berne, and Bluffton street fairs. They also performed a half time show at the Norwell football game.

All the music students had the choice to enter the NISBOVA solo and ensemble contest, which required each musician to either sing or play an instrument in competition. The contest proved to be a valuable experience for the music students.

The big bad dragon gives one last snort to Little Red Kimona Hood during the Middle School half-time show.

"I don't know how to love him," sings out the eighth grade girls' choir at the Variety Concert.

7th Grade Basketball: FRONT ROW:
S. Bebout, S. Wittwer, G. Bailey, K.
Maillox, J. Parrish, M. Ford. SECOND
ROW: J. Atkison, B. Hatten, C. Hill,
R. King, T. Striker, B. Gagle, D.

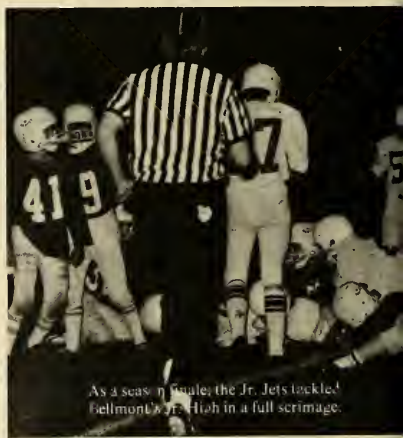

Lehman, F. Zurcher, J. Speakman.
BACK ROW: Coach Dubach, B. Fennig,
S. Taylor, D. Lambert, R. Valencia, K.
McCullough, K. Hirschy, R. Harris.

Learning the fundamentals and gaining experience were the goals stressed in Middle School Sports.

Intramural football games and wrestling matches helped to teach many boys the basics of these sports.

Middle School Cross Country: FRONT
ROW: R. Ringger, D. Call, L. Hirschy,
L. Fiechter. BACK ROW: D. Ring-ger, B. Cavanaugh, J. Speakman, L.
Strahm, Coach Habegger.

As a season finale, the Jr. Jets tackled Bellmont's Jr. High in a full scrimmage.

Middle School Athletics Expands

At half time of B-team game, the 6th graders show what they have learned at the Saturday morning clinics.

8th Grade Basketball: FRONT ROW: D. James, L. Strahm, D. Ringger, K. Arnold, R. Ringger. SECOND ROW: J. Mitchel, C. Ereksen, R. Childs, J.

Yoder, T. Kipfer, M. Cooper. BACK ROW: J. Speakman, B. Brunner, B. Williamson, A. Miller, M. Bowman, Coach Markley.

Jeff Speakman gasps for air as he completes the 1 1/2 mile course.

The Basketball, Cross Country, and Track teams gained experience by competing against other schools.

The 7th and 8th grade Basketball teams showed their ability by both placing 2nd in their respective 4-team tournaments.

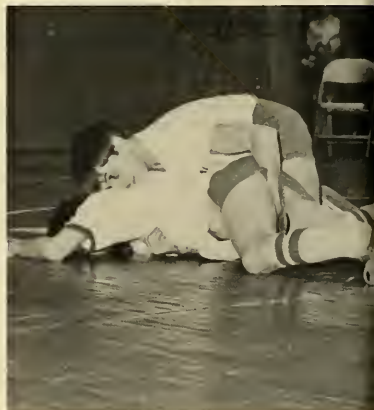

The Cross Country team also exhibited a winning attitude by placing 3rd in the A.C.A.C. Conference and finished with an excellent win-loss record.

The Middle School Track team consisted of thirty-nine seventh and eighth grade boys and girls. Girls on the track team were a first this year in the Middle School. The co-ed team competed in nine regular meets and the ACAC meet at the end of the season.

Coach Humble counts down the end of the period as the wrestlers try to pin their man.

Gary Mitchel "monkey rides" his opponent.

Thirty-seven men, consisting of seventh and eighth graders, made up the 1976 Middle School Wrestling team. Coached by Mr. Walsh, the team had three season matches, losing twice to Bellmont and winning one from South Adams. The wrestlers believed in hard practices and are looking forward to High School Wrestling. Ted Barger also participated in the AAU Junior Olympics.

Kerry Arnold watches as Troy Zimmerman knocks the bar from its standard.

8th GRADE CHEERLEADERS, Kim Martin (FRONT), Pam Miller, Susan Myers, Teresa Taylor, Lori Sovine, Betty Byerly, Kae Troxel (TOP), Carrie Liby, Donna Hack, Michelle Slusher, Tracy Longenberger.

Thumbs-up to Greg Kaehr's new creation.

Entering Middle School initiated many new responsibilities. Study halls, learning the modular system, changing classes, and new faculty members were just a few of the obstacles Middle School students encountered. Students made sure they arrived at class on time (and suffered the consequences if they didn't!)

Middle School sports have enlarged a great deal. A football, cross country, wrestling, and track teams all were fielded.

Any seventh or eighth grade girl who wanted to be cheerleader was allowed to do so. This gave 17 seventh graders and 11 eighth graders an opportunity to cheer for their teams.

No Energy Crisis Here!!

Another save is made during noontime PE intramurals.

Jodi Holtsberry concentrates on her color hues in Art class.

Debbie Hummel practices her spelling words on the board.

Middle School PE classes go co-ed for square dancing.

Dean VanHorn awaits the serve in noon-time four square.

Study halls are for studying . . . sometimes.

Bryan Assumes M.S. Reins

Ping pong is an activity Mr. Bryan has initiated into Middle School activities.

Making sure that each Middle School graduate is capable of handling the responsibilities of High School was the goal of Mr. Bryan and his staff. Acquiring the basics in Math, Science, English, and History, as well as providing instruction in Phys. Ed., Music, Art, and Home Ec. kept the students occupied and the teachers busy trying to keep ahead.

Due to illness, Mr. Johnson took a leave of absence and Mr. James Lovett replaced him for the second semester.

Becky Sheets and Vickie Lichtle help teach cheerleading to some anxious learners.

Elementary teachers are more than just teachers; they are also part-time mothers and fathers. They're the ones who mend bloody knees; wipe cold, runny noses; and play kickball when they're one person short.

The teachers also spend countless hours making their rooms resemble the unit being studied, which makes learning much easier and enjoyable for both students and teachers.

Oh, the fond memories of childhood days . . . from the excitement of that first day in May when we finished our fifth grade year . . . filled with some of the finest memories that we'll cherish the rest of our lives . . .

Even though the lifestyles of children over the years hardly change, the methods used in teaching them do.

Learning centers played an important part in the elementary student's education. These centers allow the students to be more independent and to work at their own rate.

The Bicentennial was one of the popular topics used in the centers. This unit encouraged the students to learn many important facts about their country's heritage.

Gym teaches elementary students many coordination exercises.

While the other Kindergartners exercise their arms, Dion James poses for the year-book photographer.

Editor's Note,

Now has come that time to say Thank-you to all the people that make this book possible.

... to Mr. Markley, who advised us and gave willingly of his time.

... to my editors, Natalie Hurst and Julie Tonnellier, who did the work of putting the book together.

... to my four photographers, who no editor can do without.

... to our advertisers, who without their support this book could not be published.
... to the Sun-Witness, and Decatur Daily Democrat, who provided emergency pictures on short notice.

And now a time to close ...

Debbie Sprunger

. . . A time to be born, and a time to die;
a time to plant, and a time to pluck up
that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8
